The core insight: shared responsibility

Health is a shared responsibility between employers, employees and health services.

This is directly aligned with L&G's Employer/Employee Partnership Contract, developed with the Wellbeing Advisory Board.

It means:

Employers must create supportive environments

Employees must stay engaged and proactive with their health

Providers like L&G bring the tools, pathways and expertise to make it work

Workplace wellbeing only succeeds when everyone plays their part.

Prevention beats cure

The report is clear: stopping people from falling out of work is more effective than trying to bring them back.

Employee wellbeing, all in one place.

Our prevention ecosystem through our platform and app, Spark provides a single point of access to all of our wellbeing services. It helps to make it quick and easy for employees to manage both their and their immediate family's health and wellbeing.

It includes:

Virtual GP
and digital physiotherapy

Mental health and specialist support

Health and

Cancer awareness, adult care and
chronic condition
pathways

Employee Assistance
Programme services
and 24/7 helplines

Early action can help
keep people well,
working and growing.

Retention is the new recruitment

Replacing experience is far more costly than retaining it.

The report highlights:

Without intervention → up to 600,000 more people could leave work due to health by 2030

Delays in support → Increased risk of long-term absence

L&G's retention services through Group Income Protection vocational rehabilitation:

Financial protection

Dedicated care pathways

Vocational rehabilitation

Relapse-prevention programmes

Support for long COVID and fatigue

Holding onto talent is a business-critical growth strategy.

Return-to-work and recovery

For employers, especially SMEs, return-to-work planning is challenging.

The report highlights that SMEs often lack occupational health expertise.

L&G's Group Income Protection provides:

Clinical case management

Tailored return-to-work plans

Specialist rehabilitation

Proven outcomes through our Group Income Protection:

Our active intervention enabled almost 9 in 10 employees absent due to mental ill health, back into their work, before benefits were payable.

Recovery isn't a straight line. L&G helps employers navigate every step.

Better data = better outcomes

We know how important it is for employers to be assured that their wellbeing investments are delivering on their promises. That's why we monitor and report on key outcomes achieved. This data shows that, as well as enhancing workplace engagement for employers by using our EAP, it can also contribute significantly in helping to reduce presenteeism and absenteeism.

Shorter absences

Our most recent claims experience of our group income protection in 2024, confirmed the benefit of our early intervention support. From the employees absent long term due to mental ill health, 89% were able to return to work before the end of the deferred period. The deferred period is the time between an employee being first absent to when we'd begin paying a regular benefit amount for eligible claims. This is typically 26 weeks, although this can vary depending on the choices made by the employer when they start their cover with us.

Data isn't just reporting – it's the confidence advisers need to guide clients toward better decisions.

The report states:

Everything begins with better data.

L&G is gathering evidence that connects:

Prevention → reduced short-term absence

Retention → lower turnover and preserved experience

Effective return → higher productivity

Healthier, more productive employees

Employees using our EAP have provided their employers with a:

26%	24%
reduction in presenteeism (continuing to work, when not well)	reduction in absenteeism and workplace distress

Employees using our EAP have benefited from:

24%	16%
increase in life satisfaction	average increase in work engagement (thriving in work)

The growth framework

L&G's Group Protection ecosystem supports three forms of growth:

1

Personal growth

Employees stay healthy, supported and able to thrive.

2

Career growth

Employees remain in work, progress and recover with confidence.

3

Economic growth

Businesses protect productivity, reduce disruption and build resilience.

This aligns directly with the report's national productivity goals.
